TAKING CHANCES.

Josh Billings once said: "If I wuz called upon to weep over the body of a dead maw, I would shed my tears over his head." Josh didn't take any chances. Even though every appearance indicated that he was dead, he'd keep away from his heels. No man ought to take chances when there is a certainty to be had. In buying shoes from us you have the benefit of our practical shoe experience. We KNOW we give more for the money than others care to offer, and in order to give a practical illustration we quote below description and prices on a few "sellers":

Business House Burned.

In a fire at Sebrae a few nights ago the business house and its entire contents, the property of J. B. Yonts, brother of Mr. T. L. Yonts of Julian, this county, was reduced to ashes. Mr. Yonts estimates his loss at $2,500. He had only $1,500 insurance. He will receive the balance.

Wheat Still Fluctuating.

Wheat made another upward move Friday and reached 96 cents in Chicago for December. On the following day it dropped again to 96 cents. Yesterday the market was still off, opening at 95 and closing at 94. There were some local sales last week at 92 cents.

What Weather Prophets Say.

Weather prophets, who sometimes prove to be good guessers, agree that September will be a hot and dry month throughout, and this far their predictions have proven true. A sharp fall in the temperature is predicted for this week, but this is to be followed by warmer, unsettled weather for the week to follow. Storms of decided energy are looked for the period from the 20th to the 24th, with cooler weather for a few days. Storms of rain with possible snow and sleet northward will probably follow the opening days of October. Snow, cold waves and killing frosts in the north may be looked for about the 10th.

Was Not a Killing.

It was rumored on the streets here a few days ago that a killing had occurred in the Longview neighborhood, but this was a mistake. There was a shooting, however, the particulars of which are about as follows: Ralph Johnson and another negro named Leveall, got into a quarrel, when Johnson pulled a revolver and shot Leveall in the side. At first it was thought that Leveall was fatally injured, but he was up and walking around in a day or two. Johnson fled and has not been heard from since. It is said that the fuss occurred about a woman.

The American Express Office.

The American Express Company's office in this city has been located. A contract has been closed with John Moskey for the room to be vacated by him this week on the corner of Ninth and Virginia streets. The location is a most desirable one, near the postoffice, telephone office, Western Union Telegraph office, Kentucky office and other business centers. It is midway between the two depots and one or two squares from each of the hotels. The Postal Telegraph office will be located in the same room.

Robbed and Stung in a Car.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 11.—Dr. W. E. Adams, assistant surgeon of the Burlington route, was taken off the east-bound Texas train this morning in an unseemly condition. He was taken to the hospital of Dr. James H. Letcher, who is the L. & N. surgeon, where all that medical skill could do, was exerted to save him, but he died about 11 o'clock. At the base of his brain there was a contusion which looked as if it might be caused by a sand bag. The cause of his death is considered as quite a mysterious affair. He was robbed of a gold watch and other valuables.

Murderous Assault Near Elmo.

Albert Smith, a young farmer of Elmo, was at work in his tobacco patch Thursday afternoon when he was attacked by a man named Pace, who picked a quarrel with him and struck him with a stick. Smith was at work with his back toward Pace, and was in a stooping position, when Pace came up with a club and dealt him several blows on the head. Smith was left for dead in the field, where he was found unconscious some time afterward. Pace fled, but was found later and his arrest attempted by Deputy Sheriff, E. P. Wilkins and Constable, M. D. Boone. As Pace ran twelve or fifteen shots were exchanged, but without effect. Pace is yet at large. Pace came to that locality last spring and was employed upon the plantation of John D. Morrison.

The colored people had a small cake walk at Friendship Hall last night under the management of Wm. Yates, the barber. The band that made the music for the occasion complimented the Kentuckian office with a nice serenade yesterday afternoon.

VICTORIOUS PATRIOTS

A Series of Important Captures By Cuban Armies.

Havana, via Key West, Sept. 12.—The sensation caused by the news of the capture of Victoria de Las Lunas by Gen. Garcia was not yet over in Havana when another report came which made the loyal Spaniards in the capital shiver.

The important town of Consolacion del Sur, in Pinar del Rio Province, was attacked three days ago by the insurgents and the whole garrison, composed of 200 volunteers from Havana, slain by the revolutionists. As soon as the terrible word was done the insurgents left the town. A strong Spanish column which arrived some hours afterward buried the bodies of the volunteers. The insurgents did not do much damage to the town, but destroyed a great tobacco plantation in the neighborhood and took away all the cattle.

The garrison of the town had been marked for death by the insurgents for a long time. They were considered deserters from the Cuban army, most of them being native Cubans who got good pay from Gen. Weyler and were especially employed because of their knowledge of the country, being associates of the Spanish guerrillas in raiding the Cuban hospitals all around that neighborhood. The town was taken by storm, the sudden attack of the insurgents surprising the garrison, which made but little resistance.

Another train has been blown up with dynamite by the insurgents between Paso Real and Herradura, Pinar del Rio Province. Seven Spanish soldiers were killed and fifteen wounded severely. Also six civil guards were wounded and eight passengers.

Near Vinolas, in the same province, the Spanish battalion of San Marcial had a hot engagement on Thursday last with the insurgents under Gen. Juan Duacase, with heavy losses on both sides. The Spanish commander, however, reported that he killed and twenty-nine wounded of his troops. The Cubans claim to have captured a large amount of arms and ammunition from the Spaniards.

In the two days' bombardment of Las Lunas, 325 Spanish soldiers were killed. The exact number of prisoners taken by Gen. Garcia was only seventy-five. The garrison was composed of 1,500 men and not 300. All the garrison but the seventy-five held by the Cubans were burned and paroled immediately after the surrendering. The seventy-five were exchanged for Cuban prisoners as has been told. The forts destroyed by the Cubans were twelve. Two Krupp guns, 1,000 shells, 150 boxes of rifle cartridges, 1,000 rifles and provisions enough to last his army one month were captured by Gen. Garcia.

CHOKED HIM OFF.

Young John Feland Not Allowed to Get in Herd's Way.

The Republican district convention to nominate a State Senator met in Madisonville yesterday. Hopkins county held its convention last week and instructed for Hub Lunsford, and appointed as delegates J. B. Harvey, E. L. Hendricks, R. J. Salmon, B. T. Robinson and W. F. Burr. Christian county, which had enough votes to control the district convention, appointed a list of delegates without instructions.

Yesterday morning Young John Feland's friends brought him out as a candidate for Senator and obtained his consent to accept if nominated. An enthusiastic delegation of ten or twelve went to the depot, Mr. Feland with them, and secured their tickets to go to Madisonville to nominate John. Among them were Hon. J. W. Morgan, V. M. Williamson, W. H. Ryan, Jas. F. Rogers, K. L. Terry, C. Banks, Watt Sumner, J. S. Johnson and Phil Bell. Chairman Fowler, of the County Committee, was on hand to see them off. The Feland party attempted to board the 9:31 train, but fate was against them. That train does not stop at Madisonville, and they were patiently waiting for the 10:18 when Dr. F. W. Gardner, A. H. Anderson, D. G. Wiley and H. E. Wiley, staunch Bradleyites, love in sight, and when they caught on to the Hunterite program an animated conversation took place. Just what was said is not important, but the outcome was that the Feland movement, though the delegates had the vote to do the business, was nipped in the bud, and the whole crowd in one section John Feland's aspirations and not one of them went to Madisonville. The four Bradleyites went, but only one of them was a delegate, according to a Feland man who talked to the Kentuckian.

Of course the result of it all was that Lunsford was nominated without opposition and for the third time in one session John Feland's aspirations were blocked by the coldest kind of a Chilcoat pass.

H. C. Wiley's tobacco barn and 800,000 pounds of tobacco were destroyed by fire near Bramblett.

MASSACRE OF MINERS.

UNARMED WORKMEN FORBIDDEN TO TRAVEL THE PUBLIC HIGHWAY.

Sixty of Them Shot Like Dogs By Deputy Sheriffs—Twenty Killed Dead and Others Dying.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 11.—The horrible tragedy that has startled a nation and once again stained the soil of Pennsylvania with innocent blood spilled by mercenaries occurred late yesterday afternoon in the outskirts of Latimer, the mining suburb of this city.

The strikers, to the number of 160, left Hazleton at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, announcing their intention to go to Latimer. As soon as this became known, a band of deputies loaded on a trolley car, went whirling across the mountain to the scene where the bloody conflict followed. After reaching Latimer they left the car and formed into three companies under Thomas Hall, E. A. Hess and Samuel B. Price.

They drew up in a line at the edge of the village, with a fence and a line of houses in their rear. Sheriff Martin was in entire command and stood in front of the line until the strikers approached. They were seen coming across the ridge, and Martin went to meet them.

The men drew up and listened in sullen silence until he had once more read the riot act. This finished, a low muttering arose among the foreigners and there was a slight movement forward.

Perceiving this the sheriff forbade them to advance. Some one attacked the sheriff. The next moment there was a command to the deputies to fire. The guns of the deputies instantly belched forth a terrible volley.

The report seemed to shake the very mountains and a cry of dismay went up from the people. The strikers went down entirely by surprise and as men toppled and fell over each other those who remained unhit stamped.

Men went down before the storm of bullets like tennis balls. The dying and wounded filled the air. Twenty-one corpses lie to night in frame shanties scattered about this forlorn place. They were found and carried to the hospital last night. The narrow cots of the Hazleton Hospital. Of these, it is almost certain that five will be unable to leave the hospital another day. Such was the execution done yesterday afternoon by 102 Deputy Sheriffs upon about 150 ignorant foreigners, whose armament is alleged to have consisted of but two pen-knives.

The situation to-night is intense, as the day was full of events and incidents. The purpose these men had in view when their march received its tragic end was consummated. The 1500 workers at the Latimer mines, to whom they were bound in an effort to induce them to join the strikers' ranks, have laid down their picks and sworn to do no more work until all the demands of the men at the mines in the district have been conceded.

Next importance was the issuance of warrants this afternoon for the arrest of Sheriff Martin and the one hundred and two deputies. These were issued at the instance of the United Hungarian Societies.

The twenty-third victim, Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 12.—The situation here to-night is graver than it has been since the bloody arfay Friday afternoon. There is strong reason to fear a conflict between the strikers and the military to-morrow and there is an indication that from 5,000 to 7,000 more miners will join the malcontents.

Feeling continues high against Sheriff Martin and his deputies, and the intensity of the situation is such that a sudden turn of the head or a word spoken above the ordinary tone brings a running crowd. The soldiers are watchful and ready for any emergency, and the people are in a state which may easily become panic.

Clement Plapolach, aged thirty-three years, one of the strikers who was injured in Friday's riot, died last to-night, making the twenty-third death.

The friends of the murdered men have prepared to make demonstrations at the funeral of ten of the victims to-day. Gen. Gobin, in command of the troops, is determined to prevent this.

Mr. Crenshaw Accepts.

Eq. R. C. Crenshaw has notified the County Committee of Christian county that he will accept the nomination tendered him for State Senator by both Christian and Hopkins counties. There is some little opposition among the middle of the road Populists of Hopkins county, but the great body of both Democratic and Populist will enthusiastically support the nominee.

THE BLUSH.

What Causes It—Is Called the Color of Virtue.

There is in the cheeks of many people a rosy color which is ever present, and the cheeks thus faultlessly by nature possess of the bearing the "flashes of health." However, a person may enjoy the very best of health without having the unfurled "flashes of health" in the cheeks; because permanent rubricundity of the cheeks is due merely to a delicateness or whiteness of the cuticle, which displays the azure arborvirescence of the veins. There may be two women who are in perfect health, perpetually bright and cheerful, carrying sunshine along with them wherever they may go, and one may have cheeks devoid of any noticeable crimson tinge, while the cheeks of the other seem like two gardens of roses bursting in full bloom. Rosy cheeks are, as a rule, appreciated more by those who do not have them than by those who are fortunate enough to possess them. It is common to hear women with rosy cheeks give utterance to deprecative remarks concerning them, while not a day passes but what we may meet with those whose cheeks have a profusion of color which is not original. This artificial and superficial luster sometimes disappears in place, reappearing upon lips not closely related to the cheeks on which the color is displayed.

Blushing indicates a momentary congestion of the capillaries, which are dilated only for an instant by nervous excitement, then contract again, and by this contraction expel the abnormal accumulation of blood. The coming and going of this crimson tide may be described as follows: When an emotion takes possession of the mind a hot flash is felt, the skin grows red, and unless this emotion is very intense this change in the appearance of the skin is confined to the cheeks. The blood is a red and hot fluid, and when an increased amount visits the cutaneous vessels the skin reddens and grows hot. The vessels are caused to contain an abnormal quantity of blood because of the relaxation, suspension or partial paralysis of the cutaneous nerves, when under ordinary conditions, keep the vessels moderately and uniformly contracted. When a person is taken by surprise the confused state of the mind is manifest in the flushed cheek. We can imagine what a tempest raged in either cheek when Juliet found she had been overheard; but the "mask of night" was over her face, and the beautiful blush which her confusion kindled in her dainty cheeks came and went unseen by Romeo's eyes.

A blush may be a forerunner of a thought that follows closely after, as when a person, having committed a grievous misdeed, and being brought face to face with it, is about to acknowledge his guilt, the sensation of shame born of that consciousness is apt to kindle the cheek while the thought momentarily flashes across the verge of speech. Or a blush may be the tell-tale of a thought in secret vainly kept; so that it often happens that when a woman's love is not expressed, her love is still blushing.

The blush has been spoken of as the blush of the dignity of virtue asserted. Diogenes once met a youth blushing and said: "Conquer, my boy; that is the complexion of virtue." It is true some people reach a degree of detachment when the cheeks are no longer visited by "the red spots of shame." With such virtue is a meaningless word, and he for whom that word embodies no suggestiveness of the soul's nobility is more on the level with the reasonable creature than that of man. To be incapable of blushing under any conditions indicates at least a badly blunted moral sensibility. These thoughts revolving in the mind of the poet Young moved him to write:

The man that blushes is not quite a brute.
This purely local modification of the circulation known as the blush is not visible where there is a pigmented deposit in the cells constituting the undermost layer of the skin, as, for example, in the African—Frank Morris Kramer, in St. Louis Republic.

The World's Fleets.

According to the Marine Rundschau, the official organ of the German naval service, there is only one naval power of the first rank—Great Britain. The French navy is largely half as strong, and France must consequently be classified as a sea power of the second rank. As none of the other naval powers is equal to France, they are placed in the third class, which includes the United States, the Japanese, the Italian and the German fleets. Expressing the fighting value of the various fleets in terms of units, the author of the article estimates the English fleet at 1,001, the French at 466, the Russian at 280, the American, German and Italian at 195 each and the Japanese at 172.

There are 250 railway stations within a six-mile radius of St. Paul's cathedral, London, whilst within a 12-mile radius there are nearly 400.

LOGAN, THE MINGO CHIEF.

Murder of His Family and Tribesmen and His Terrible Revenge.

In the spring of 1774 there appeared in Jefferson county, O., one of the most remarkable men in the history of the country—Logan, the Mingo chief. He was born in 1730 near Shomokin, Pa. On coming to this country he lived for a time at the Mingo town. Logan was a man of fine physique, fleet-footed and of powerful endurance, a magnificent specimen of his race. He loved white people as he did his own race. In 1764 Logan and his followers on a hunting expedition encamped at the mouth of Yellow creek, in the northern part of the county. Across the river Joshua Baker kept a grig shop frequented by the notorious Daniel Greathouse. It was the habit of the Indians to go to the Baker tavern every day for whiskey. Greathouse and his comrades secreted themselves about the tavern one day when a number of warriors came over, bringing with them the Indians all the whiskey they could drink, and when they were drunk signaled to the white men in ambush. A moment later and the work of slaughter was begun.

Every Indian was killed and scalped except one little girl. The women were ripped open, and the body of Logan's sister stuck up on a pole. Logan's brother, John Petty, and the rest of his kindred were among the murdered. The heart of the noble chief was broken. He buried the bodies of his dead; then, gathering about him the remnant of his band, Logan, the friend of the white man, went forth to seek revenge, and that revenge was terrible. How many victims were sacrificed to it, no one knows, but it is said that Logan announced that he would take ten scalps for every one of his people who was murdered. A few days before the battle of Point Pleasant, in speaking of his troubles, Logan said his revenge had been satisfied, and although he was at peace with himself and the white men, yet he would not forsake his people who had arisen to avenge his wrongs; and he, with Cornstalk, led them at the bloody battle of Point Pleasant. It was shortly after that battle that he delivered to Gen. Gibson the speech that made his name immortal. After the battle of Point Pleasant Logan's life was a sad and gloomy one. He became addicted to strong drink, and in 1779 he visited Detroit, where, while intoxicated, he insulted an Indian. When he started home from Detroit he stopped a short distance from the settlement, and while sitting with his blanket over his head near the campfire, the Indian whom he insulted slipped up behind him and buried his tomahawk in his brain.

The last battle with the Indians in Jefferson county was in 1793. A party of Indians sunk their canoes opposite what is now Market street, Stauntonville, and proceeded down the Virginia shore to Painesville creek, where they captured Mr. Lawson Van Buskirk, who was riding horseback. Three white men followed the Indians to the Middle ferry, but were afraid to attack them on account of their numbers. While the men were watching the stranger raise their canoes another party of whites came in sight. When the Indians saw this second party they threw the poor woman on a huge rock, known as "Ferry" or "Towm Rock" (still known as such), and left her to death. They then occupied the river. Shortly after the Indian depredations increased, and it was resolved to hunt the marauders down. Capt. Buskirk, husband of the murdered woman, enlisted a band of 30 men. At what is now called Boone's farm, the Adams farm, one mile from Mingo, they found a lot of "jerk." Knowing Indians were near, the main party ambushed, while Buskirk and a man named Carpenter reconnoitered. The latter espied an Indian, and called to Buskirk to come before he was shot. Buskirk could get behind a tree he was pierced by 11 bullets. For a time a bloody battle was waged, but the Indians finally retreated. Capt. Buskirk was the only white man killed on the field. This was the final battle with the Indians in Jefferson county.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Robin's Long Trip.

A robin recently caught in Medina, N. Y., by a schoolboy had tied to its leg a paper which read: "Where will this robin build its nest? Is it the coming spring?" and signed, without date, N. Jules Ferdinand, box 415, Tampa, Fla. The schoolboy wrote to Tampa, giving the information asked for.

"Considering what?"
"Why, considering the fact that the old warrior would look better on a wheel."

—It is now stipulated that the world's population at the end of 1975 will be 2,000,000,000. In the year 2078, when the population, at the present rate of increase, will be 5,994,000,000 people.

A FAITHFUL FIRE HORSE.

Has Served a Michigan T. W. Twenty Years—Rewarded with a Pension.

Billy is a pensioner, and is the only one that the corporation of Muskegon maintains at the expense of the public, says the Detroit Journal. The city is in extreme indigence, and the administrators of the municipality's funds are pondering over grave financial problems and seeking in every possible way to alleviate the distress of the overburdened taxpayer, yet, in the face of all this adversity, Billy, the pensioner, daily receives his rations, and no one grumbles or thinks of grumbling.

Billy is a small gray horse, who has won his laurels in the city fire department, where he has served for 20 long years as faithfully and honorably as any horse could. He became a fire horse in the year 1876, and was six years of age when he was enrolled. He has now been a year on retirement, which makes his present age approximately 27 years.

Billy has seen some big fires. He saw the great conflagration which occurred in the latter part of the 70s, that left the banks of Muskegon lake almost desolate of any trace of civilization. Billy raced and pranced to the great fire which swept up Pine street in the early part of the decade and left hundreds of people homeless and destitute. Billy has been to hundreds of fires, big and little, and has unenviably earned security and comfort for the remainder of his old age. He reported for duty for the last time on January 6 last, when his stiffened limbs helped to carry the cart to an alarm coming from Lake-side, and three miles distant from the barn. Since then he has had a life of comparative ease, and, having been given the freedom of the city, he ambles leisurely about the streets, venerated by all who see him. He lives at barn No. 4, where he reports three times a day for his meals. Billy still has reminiscences of the activity and excitement of the past, for when the great bell in the city hall tower sounds a fire alarm he pricks up his ears, and, with as much alertness as his senility will admit, he scrambles back to the barn, where with an appearance of disappointment, he views the younger and more spirited horses who have taken his place dash past the spring doors into the harness and out into the street with a helter skelter, reminiscent of his more useful days. Billy is gentle and kind, and is a friend to everybody. He is much loved by the fire laddies, who make a great pet of him. He enjoys a frolic and goes through many laughable antics which the boys have taught him. Billy is both well known and popular, and there is not much fear that the city pension commissioner will ever reduce or discontinue his allowance.

ANIMALS LOVE MUSIC.

Sweet Sounds Lighten a Horse's Labor and Fatten the Sheep.

Just at that moment, before any of them had begun to talk, every one caught the pleasant musical sound of little bells ringing, says a writer in Our Dumb Animals. It was no regular tune, but a delicious melody in that soft, sunshiny air, which was filled at the same time with the song of birds. Angela had heard all kinds of music in London, but this was unlike anything she had heard before, so soft, and sweet, and gladome! On it came, ringing, ringing, as softly as flowing water. The boys and grandfather knew what it meant. Now it was in sight—the farm team going to the mill with sacks of corn to be ground, each horse with a little string of bells to its harness. On they came, the handsome, well-cared-for creatures, nodding their heads as they stepped along; and at every step the cheerful and cheering melody rang out.

"Do all horses down here have bells?" asked Angela.

"By no means," replied her grandfather; "they are some expense, but if we can make labor easier to a horse by giving him a little music, which he loves, he is less worn by his work, and that is a saving worth thinking of. A horse is a generous, noble-spirited animal, and not without intellect, either; and he is capable of much enjoyment from music. We all know that music stimulates to exertion, as well as soothes the weary. Soldiers, as Willie says, march to music. If hands of work-people at field labor sing, the labor is lightened and the mind cheered. Buffon says that even sheep fatten to the sound of music."

First Use of the Bayonet.

The bayonet was first made in Bayonne, in France; hence its name, and it was first used by the French army in 1621. It was successfully employed by them during the reign of William III. in an attack on the British "Twenty-fifth" regiment of foot. It afterwards became generally recognized as an indispensable military weapon, and has been used on both sides in nearly all the great wars of Europe and America in which the British and other troops have been engaged for the last 150 years.

CONNECTICUT LIGHTNING.

Complicated Damage Done by a Bolt in Naugatuck Valley.

It was in Goshen, at the upper end of the Naugatuck valley, that the frisky Connecticut lightning recently made its playground. The first flash that came in the storm justified its marksmanship. Darius Thompson had been setting bean poles in his garden that morning, and one of them was particularly straight and handsome, somewhat taller than the others. The bolt struck on that particular bean pole, struck it on the tip end, and split it down to the other end, a foot or more underground.

Having satisfied itself of its aim and having got the range, it took another shot. This time it aimed at the lightning rod on Fred Williams' house. Eighteen inches of the top of the rod, including the copper point, was cut off as though it had been an icicle, and struck into the roof several yards away. Then another section of the rod was clipped off, about 8 feet of it, torn from its fastenings and rammed ten inches into the ground, where it stood upright when Mr. Williams started to look for it. Having had his fun with the rod, the bolt allowed down to within about two feet of the ground, where it parted, one section going into the ground with such force as to throw mud on the clapboards as high as the roof while the other section tore out a piece of siding large enough to put a barn in, and began a trip of investigation.

The first room it came to was Miss Williams' bedroom. She had been lying on the bed a few minutes before, but had been called down stairs by her sister. The lightning tore off a section of lath and plaster, jumped down to the bed and tore every nail in it to kindling wood, ripping the headboard and footboard to pieces, and leaving not enough to make over into a bunk. Then the bolt bored its way into the parlor, where another bedstead had been put up for an emergency. It also struck the bedstead off the woodwork, and went through the mattress, quilt and sheets. The family's dog was shut in a closet in this room, but the playful electricity sought him out and killed him. Then, having had fun enough, it broke the pane of glass in the lower window sash and went out.

This finished its work on the Williams farm, but it struck several trees in that section of the town and split them apart, tearing off the bark to the ground.—N. Y. Sun.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

1. Youth Gladstone Wanted to Be an Actor, But Changed His Plans.

Few are aware that, not only was Mr. Gladstone figured as a playwright, but that, also, he was to such an extent stage struck in his youth that he actually consulted the famous Mr. Macready, respecting his chances of success in the theatrical profession, says a writer in the Philadelphia Press. The tragedian is reported to have accorded a favorable opinion, but, subsequently, Mr. Gladstone was induced to abandon his intentions in the direction of the advice of his friend, Lord Stanley, afterward fourteenth earl of Derby, so celebrated as prime minister, and as the most successful translator of the works of Homer.

Of course, the entreaties of Mr. Gladstone's own relatives likewise weighed in the balance in persuading him to change his plans, and thus the British stage was deprived of a star that would certainly have proved its most brilliant ornament. There certainly is no man on the English-speaking stage today, or, indeed, any who has been during the present century who has been possessed of so exquisite, melodious voice or of such perfect diction. The course of English history during the last 50 years might have been different had Mr. Gladstone become an actor.

With regard to his career as a playwright, it was both brief and inglorious. It is just 60 years ago that he wrote a play, making its theme the treatment of the famous "ten thousand" under Xenophon, the leading part in which was intended for Mr. Keane or for Young. The drama, however, was rejected by every London and provincial manager of the day. It is doubtful whether a play written by the Grand Old Man nowadays would meet with so particularly sorry a fate.

A Thousand Gallons of Physic.

The following is from the report of a recent meeting of the Board of directors: Miss Parnell is an elderly maiden lady who has been in receipt of medical relief from the board for some years past. When her case came up for consideration, the doctor announced that he had consumed the quantity of medicine she had consumed, and found that it came to just over 1,000 gallons. The relieving officer added that he had seen no alteration in her all the time. But it had done her no apparent good, there is the consideration on the other side, that she is still alive to tell of it, and can boast of being the greatest medicine taker in the world.

THERE is no getting away from the fact that Pure White Lead (see list of brands which are genuine) and Pure Linseed Oil make the best paint.

Properly applied, it will not chip, chalk or scale off, but will outwear any of the mixtures offered as substitutes. It is, therefore, by far the most economical.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlets giving also cards showing samples of colors free, showing thousands of swatches of different designs painted in various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

food and a fuel famine. The outlook himself that the massacre of unarmed miners last Friday occurred in Pennsylvania instead of Ohio.The centennial anniversary of the 1793 act is to be celebrated in Paris this year. There may be some talking through it.Other portions of the world are now afflicted with war, pestilence and famine. This country has escaped these, but it has Hanna and the Disney Bill.It is again announced that the great coal strike will be declared at around on the 21st, the compromise price of 65 cents being accepted.How is this for a missing letter puzzle? "The most unpopular man in Kentucky and Tennessee is named —atterson." Who will be the first to fill in the letter correctly?""Quo Vadis," the greatest work of fiction of recent years, written by Mr.

Sienkiewicz, a Pole, is attracting wide attention in the literary world. The New York Journal of Sept. 5 published the story in supplement form.Gen. Luque, of the Spanish army in revenge for recent Cuban victories, has massacred sixty Cuban women and a large number of children, in a small town raided by his defeated troops.Even England has agreed to take a step toward bimetalism. The Bank of England has announced that it will use silver for one-fifth of its cash reserve, about 7,500,000 pounds.
There is also a prospect that the Indian mints will be reopened to silver.The trials of the Frankfort bribers will begin at Frankfort Thursday.
The plan of the prosecution is to try Gaines and Tanner first and then use them as witnesses against Hunter, Frank and Wilson. The grand jury will also be in session and is expected to lay some big game as a result of the investigation of gambling charges.In another column we print the details of the fearful massacre of unarmed miners in the mining town of Hazelton, Pa. The sole offense of these men was that they were marching along the public highway, going in a body to ask other miners to join with them in the demand for living wages. Shot down without mercy by hired assassins, if there is any law in Pennsylvania for the protection of human life, the guilty murderers should be punished to the fullest extent.There has never been anything in Kentucky journalism since the days of Geo. D. Prentiss, to equal the editorial work of B. A. Eales, of the Dispatch, now appearing day after day in showing up the treachery and inconsistency of the Courier Journal's editorial policy. The following paragraph from Saturday's paper is conclusive."Last Tuesday the Courier Journal was in a fearful mood, and Watson was weeping up to his eyes, and pleading his duty, year after year, to the Dispatch, at $10,000 a year, as a set-off for his treachery in aiding in the election of Bradley, McKinley and DeLoach."Wednesday he was coming and billing with the anarchists, tollgate raiders, quakers and blasphemers of Kentucky and begging for "a cent promise with dishonor, on the simple document, in favor of gold and silver and paper convertible into either at the option of the holder."The Dispatch put a knife into his vitals, and turned it, and the Post fell on him with the ferocity of a tiger, and he was reduced to a cub, and ripped him open from his collar plexus to his navel.
Mark Hanna's physicians were called in and patched him up, and placed him back on the line and on Thursday he braced up, and faced the issue which he says Democracy presents in this form: "Let us all die and go to hell together." That is a desperate resolve to meet a desperate issue. The editor of the Courier Journal will have to excuse us. He mis-understands the issue. The Democratic party does not propose to follow the Courier Journal in that direction. There is now no doubt about the fact that the managers of the Courier-Journal sent the wrong man to the Insane asylum in 1886.
He has laid out that The Dispatch is in town."The Clarksville Times published in a grapevine dispatch the following silly and ridiculous fake about Hindman's recent trip to this city:"Mr. Hindman's straightforward speech here the other day and his sound and convincing arguments gained him many votes in this city and county. Clean politicians here who are in a position to know claim that there are at least 500 National Democrats in Christian county, and besides getting those to a man he will receive the votes of 2,000 others."Nothing could be further from the truth. Hindman may get the votes of the 66 Palmerites and 200 Mc-Kinleyites in this county, unless they should again vote the straight Republican ticket, but he will get no Democrats. The same sort of lies were circulated last year, claiming that 800 Democrats would leave the party, and yet the Democratic vote was 3,145, the largest ever cast in the county.Thos. B. Reed's attempt to answer Bryan's article on the rise in the price of wheat is about the lamest effort that ever emanated from a man of ability. The great body of his article was a discussion of the greenback party of twenty years ago and that was about as near as he got to the subject in hand. Without the aid of promises, he closed his letter by drawing the conclusion that the hard times are over and that general prosperity will gradually be restored.
Thomas is too smooth a citizen to father the bold statement that the general is already here. He sums up by saying the advance in wheat will put the people to work and by working they will be prosperous bye and

AROUND AND ABOUT

J. R. Willard & Co., New York bankers, failed last week for $100,000.

Judge E. C. Ferguson, County Judge at Calloway, is dead.

The Canty-Van Selden case at Washington has been set for the 21st.

Charles McLenkins was drowned at the foot of Chestnut street, Louisville.

G. H. Slaughter, a prominent Tennessee politician, dropped dead in Nashville.

R. T. Bray, a former college professor, committed suicide at Davville, Va., by hanging.

A revival at Valley View resulted in six additions to the Presbyterian church.

S. A. Ball, of the Middlesborough police force, shot and probably fatally wounded Joe Wright.

Last week's attendance at the Tennessee Centennial was nearly 100,000, of which 40,000 attended on Nashville day.

Sam Small is making Democratic speeches in the Bluegrass counties. As a silver chumpion he is one of the best.

It is now alleged that Dick Tate, the defaulting treasurer of Kentucky, is not dead but living in the Argentine republic.

A New York syndicate has secured from Houdrums such concessions as will place that government under their control.

The Henry county grand jury refused to indict Distiller W. L. Crabb on the charges preferred against him by the Oldham County Bank.

Capt. B. J. Treacy, of Lexington, died at Boston of injuries received several days ago in a fall. The Boston authorities suspect foul play, and are investigating the case.

Seven suspicious cases at New Orleans have been pronounced yellow fever. Six of them are on St. Claude street, and originated from a case brought from Ocean Springs.

The M. E. Conference at Pineville referred the case against the Rev. Roney, charged with the misappropriation of funds, to a committee for investigation.

Alex C. Brown has been nominated by the Democrats to represent the legislative district of Fulton and Hickman, now misrepresented by J. E. Speight.

In a divorce pleading, Oath Woodruff, of Louisville, charges that his wife is a sort of a hoo-doo artist and has exercised quack influences on him by means of deceptions of roots and herbs.

While there are new cases of yellow fever in the infected coast towns of Mississippi, the epidemic is not spreading beyond these towns, owing to the strict quarantine. New Orleans has some yellow fever, and is quarantined against by nearly every neighbor, and business consequently suffers. Fifty thousand dollars have been appropriated to clean up this city.

The grand jury returned an indictment charging Moses Rhodes and George Edwards with the crime of willfully and feloniously burning a tobacco house on the 25th day of April, 1897, Sunday night. The indictment charges that they conspired and agreed together to burn a tobacco barn known as the Edwards tobacco factory related to Fred Gloy stein. At the time of burning the tobacco house was insured against loss by fire in several insurance companies for the benefit of George Edwards, for $8,000.—Henderson Gleaser.

"The Black Husar."

The theatrical season will be opened at the Opera House to night with the charming and popular opera, "The Black Husar," by the Metropolitan Opera Co. This company carries its own orchestra and includes a strong cast of opera celebrities. As this is the opening of the season much interest is felt in the coming engagement. The costumes and scenery the company will use are all bright and new and will prove no less attractive than the opera itself.

Bailey and Parker.

Bailey, Republican, and Parker, Populist, have agreed upon the following joint debate between them. Bailey will open the series of debates. Each debater will be allowed one hour and thirty minutes. The first speaker will have a period of fifteen minutes for a rejoinder.

The list of debates, with the time and place is as follows:

- Fulton, Sept. 23.
- Washington, at night, Sept. 25.

A Happy Woman

A happy woman is a well woman. Not all well women are happy, but all perfectly happy women are well. Health and happiness are inseparable. Dr. Hartman's free treatment has made many happy women, because it has restored many women to perfect health. Mrs. M. H. Robbins, of Moutrose, Ala., wrote these happy words. She is in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman: "I have followed your advice and feel much benefited by it. I was sold your medicine and kind advice have done more for my present health than anything else could have done. I thank you sincerely from the bottom of my heart for all the good you have done me. I am feeling so well and free from all suffering that my heart goes out to thankfulness for you."

In addition to the free advice which so many thousand women are receiving, through Dr. Hartman's free correspondence, is his free book, written for women only. This book will be sent to any address for a short time, by the Peru as Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

In Memoriam.

Since we last met, death has come among us, and we have been called on to mourn the loss of one of our most valued members, Mrs. S. E. Trice. How we shall miss that dear friend and untiring worker. Her greatest happiness was in the service of the Master. Her whole life, one unbroken period of prayer and praise, and work for Him. She has laid down her armor, but her influence will not cease. May we all strive to emulate her virtues, and as far as we can carry on the good work she has left in our hands. The Woman's Missionary Society, The Social Union, the church and prayer meeting weep together over a common loss.

Let us as a society, tender our sympathy to the bereaved family, and let each of us feel that we mourn with them in their great affliction. Yet we rejoice that she is now free from all pain and weariness and is resting in the enjoyment of eternal happiness and her Saviour's presence.

"Servant of God, well done."

Rest from thy loved employ.

The battle fought the victory won.

Enter thy Master's joy.

Daily Trains to Colorado, Utah and California.

Commencing at 10 p. m., September 12th, and every night thereafter at the same hour, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway train will leave the Union Passenger Station (Canal and Adams streets, Chicago) with elegantly equipped Palace Sleeping Cars for Denver and other Colorado points, with through connections at Denver for Salt Lake City, Ogden, San Francisco, and points in Southern California. The route to Denver is via Omaha and Lincoln, Nebraska, and is first class in every respect. All the modern facilities of travel are included in this direct route to Colorado—the Colorado of the West. The allied lines, composing the route, viz., the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway—Chicago to Omaha—and the Rock Island and Pacific—Omaha to Denver and Colorado Springs—have united to make this the most popular route to all points west of the Missouri river. For further details, time tables, etc., address J. G. Everest, General Traveling Agent, C. M. & St. P. Ry., 96 Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

Miss Emma Yates, of Union City, Tenn., was married Sept. 1 to Mr. Jas. E. Goad; on the 8th night the bride dropped dead of heart disease while riding in a buggy with her husband.

Dyspepsia fever has become epidemic at Edwards, Minn.

Are You Thin?

Look about you! See for yourself! Who suffer most from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia, despondency, general weakness? Who are on the edge of nervous prostration all the time? Those who are thin, Opium, chloral, bromides, headache powders, only make matters worse. Iron and bitters are only stimulants. To be cured and secured for good, you need a fat-making food. You want new blood, rich blood; and a strong nervous system.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is all this. It feeds the tissues, makes rich blood, and strengthens the nerves. Book about it free for the asking. For sale by all druggists at 50c and $1.00. SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Meets With Hearty Approval.

The action of the Democratic Executive Committee in nominating Mr. R. C. Crenshaw for State Senator will meet with the hearty approval of all Democrats and genuine free silverites of Hopkins county. It was Hopkins county's time to nominate a man, and while the feeling of many was in favor of a home man, and there is much good Senatorial timber in this county, the business interests of the gentlemen suggested prevented their accepting the nomination.

Mr. Crenshaw is a thorough gentleman. He is well informed upon all questions of public interest, an out-and-out free silver man, and would fill the office with honor to himself and credit to the people. He is an able debater and can hold his own on the stump.

He has made a study of social and economic problems for twenty years and understands thoroughly the needs of the people. Being a farmer and consequently a laboring man himself, his sympathies are with struggling humanity and his efforts will be toward the enactment of laws for the benefit of the greatest number.

A Populist himself, Mr. Crenshaw will do much toward uniting and hooking together the silver forces. In fact, that is a great object with him. He heartily endorses the Chicago platform and believes that all the bimetallic forces should work together to insure success in 1900. That is the question to be settled first, before other issues are forced to the front. As it was the issue in the last Presidential election, so it will continue to be the issue in National, State, district and county politics. It will not down, despite the assertions of the followers of the gold falsity that it is dead. Therefore, any action looking to closer concentration of the silver forces is to be commended, and the action of the County Committee is heartily approved by all earnest silverites.—Madisonville Mail.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, to receive urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one or two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to venereal or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifest in the kidneys, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention the Hopkinsville Kentuckian and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Second Exposure.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 10.—No change was made in the management of the Institution for Feeble-minded Children at the regular monthly meeting of the Commissioners. It is announced in addition that no change will be made by them. The rumored removal of Dr. Huff grew out of the discovery of an undue intimacy between a man and a woman employed there. Dr. Huff removed one of the parties, but the other, an appointee of the Commissioners, remains. The State Inspector will shortly investigate the institution, and it may be he will make public conditions that will force Dr. Huff's resignation.

ANOTHER AWFUL WRECK.

More Than 50 Lives Lost and 185 Persons Injured.

Newcastle, Col., Sept. 10.—Following closely on the disastrous collision on the Santa Fe comes the death-dealing crash on the Rio Grande road, a mile from here, last night. A Rio Grande passenger train, running one hour late, collided with a Midland stock extra one and one-half miles west of Newcastle. Both engines are wrecked. Shortly after the collision occurred the baggage car, day coach, smoker and the tourist sleeper caught fire, with one Pullman and a special car from the Hamilton & St. Joe railroad remained on the track. The fault is said to lie with the train crew of the stock extra. After twelve hours' incessant work by the wrecking crews in clearing away the debris and rescuing the bodies of those who perished, it is yet impossible to secure more than an estimate of the loss of life, and even all the recovered bodies of the dead have not been identified. Many of the unfortunate never will be known, and it is possible the number killed will always be in doubt. From the best information obtainable now fully thirty persons are believed to have perished, while 185 were taken out of the wreck suffering from serious injuries.

Honest John Moayon

Is a Household Word
All Over Christian County.

For Twenty-one years it has stood for square dealing, honest treatment and sound business principles in Hopkinsville. "Moayon's Corner" on Ninth street is now a thing of the past. More room and a better house was needed to meet the requirements of a growing business and

We have moved to the elegant and commodious STORE ROOM at.

206 and 208 S. Main Street, which has been especially remodeled and fitted up for our occupancy.

New House, === New Goods, New Stand.

Our old stocks have been closed out and we now offer to the public a bran new stock of the choicest goods at prices that will surprise you by their cheapness.

The Fleeting Dollar Or the Far-Off Dollar

Hitched to a promise and stretching into the future has no charms to wholesale merchants. It is "now dollar" that makes him squeeze down his prices to the lowest notch. We buy for cash and we offer advantages over the long-term buyer. Buying cheaper we can sell cheaper and

You can Save Money by Dealing With Us.

Do You WEAR CLOTHES?

Then why not wear the latest styles and best goods to be had.

Perhaps you're one of those who think that dry goods stores do not have the right thing in

Suits and Mens' Furnishings

and if they do, cannot sell any cheaper. If you have either of these notions we are here to convince you that you are wrong and in addition will offer inducements no other house can, as our goods were bought before the Dingley Bill took effect.

Every time you buy Clothing from John Moayon You Will SAVE MONEY.

We have just Moved this week

And the big task of arranging the mammoth stock on the shelves will occupy all of our time this week. On

SEPTEMBER 23, 24, & 25,

WE WILL HAVE

Our Grand Fall Opening

and you can come and see for yourself that we have the best, the biggest and the most up-to-date store in Southern Kentucky.

Very Respectfully,

JOHN MOAYON,
